

Welcome to the {code} Weekly, a Newsletter focused on the {code} Community, Team, open source and storage/container trends in the tech industry.

{code} Weekly Highlights

This newsletter is packed with information! As we prepare for our trip to Denver next week for marketing meeting and GopherCon, we've written a blog on our top picks at the conference.

Kubernetes 1.7 is here moving towards making storage a 1st class resource alongside cpu/memory! Security hardening, stateful application, and extensibility updates. We found a couple of articles on their release if you want to learn more.

Lots to read and we welcome your feedback on our newsletter!

GopherCon 2017 is next week! Once again Gophers will take over the Colorado Convention Center in Denver for several days participating in the one of the most popular conferences on Go. Among them will be our very own {code} engineer Vladimir Vivien, who has been attending since the conference started in 2014. After programming in Go for a couple of years, Vladimir published a book on the subject titled "Learning Go Programming" an insightful guide to learning the Go programming language. Vladimir wrote the book because he wanted to make it easier for newcomers to get into the language - essentially writing the book he would have liked to have when he was starting out with Go.

Join Vladimir at GopherCon and pick up a free limited edition (only 50 available) signed copy of his book and share stories about your adventures in Golang.

Attendees of the show will also have the pleasure of listening to {code} Catalyst Ashley McNamara at Friday's keynote "My Journey to Go". Ashley is a Principal Developer Advocate at Microsoft, and co-creator of <http://gopherize.me>. Ashley will share her journey to Go and hopefully convey some of the lessons she's learned along the way. Make sure to take notes (and tweet to us what you hear @codedellemc)!
